

University of Travnik on the map of EU projects

International cooperation in the field of higher education is an important aspect of the institutional action in terms of developing the capacity of internal and external factors that empower the correlation that operates on the principle of common vision, directing the quality of higher education and research purposes, and build a network of unique partnership in the field of improvement of various segments of society life.

University of Travnik (Faculty of Education and Faculty of Technical Studies) have become recognizable on the map of European Union projects in the field of higher education. Through the integration and strengthening of steps in the process of Accreditation, international cooperation has become an important aspect in which management determined. In a relatively short period of time resulted in two Erasmus + project in which the Faculty of Education is a project coordinator, and on the other University of Travnik is partner on the field of Capacity building. Great partnerships map opened up with many countries such as: United Kingdom, Romania, Slovakia, Croatia, Austria, Belgium, Armenia, with many higher education institutions and ministries of our country.

The first "Kick off meeting" of the Erasmus + "Development and Implementation of Social Dimension Strategies in Armenia and Bosnia and Herzegovina through Cross-Regional Peer Learning / INCLUSION" was held in Armenia, Yerevan (the capital) where partners and program countries met (UK, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Armenia, Belgium, Austria). They talked about the work packages within one year of the project implementation, operationalization and the inclusion of social dimensions (SD) in the context of higher education. University of Travnik got a leading role in the process of dissemination of the project together with the host of this year's "Kick Off" American University of Armenia.

The next step is a host preparation of 'KICK OFF' meeting in Travnik. As a project coordinator host will be the Faculty of Education, University of Travnik in the context of other ERASMUS + project "Introducing competence-based preschool teacher education curricula in Bosnia and Herzegovina-TEACHER".

Travnik is free to boast that it is the "map" of the EU project, thanks to the University of Travnik, who recognized the importance of networking in the area of action of the European Union and encourage the development of quality, ensuring durability and longevity of the positive changes that arise in implementing the project, but also to ensure that projects be placed in context and issues of the community in which it is implemented.
